DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1, 3, and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Soncodi (U.S. Patent 6,111,881).

Soncodi discloses the invention (claims 1, 3, and 5) as claimed including a method comprising:

- (a) fixing a logical identifier for a signal line at an egress interface (see Fig. 4, elements c2020, c2040, and c5020, col. 5, lines 58-62).
- (b) mapping a first physical identifier for a first physical signal line to the logical identifier (see Fig. 4, elements c20, c30, and c50, col. 5, lines 56-62).
- (c) remapping a second physical identifier for a second physical signal line to the logical identifier responsive to a line failure on the first physical signal line (see Fig. 4, elements c20, c40, c50, or c2030, and c5030, col. 6, lines 3-21).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 2661

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

5. Claims 6-98 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Byers (U.S. Patent 5,959,996) in view of Reveles et al. (U.S. Patent 6,075,785).

Regarding claims 6-9, Byers discloses an apparatus comprising:

- (a) a bus interface (see Figs. 2 and 3, elements 302, 324, and 316, col. 4, lines 1-9, 33-38).
- (b) an ingress time slot interchange (ITSI) module (see Fig. 2, element 232, col. 3, lines 39-42, 54-65).
- (c) a switch fabric coupled to the ITSI module (see Figs. 2 and 4, element 34, col. 3, lines 46-49, and col. 4, lines 62-65).
- (d) an egress time slot interchange (ETSI) module having a plurality of inputs, each input assigned a logical identifier which remains fixed after initialization (see Fig. 2, element 232, col. 3, lines 39-42, 54-65).

Byers does not disclose a translation module to translate an incoming signal identifier to one of the logical identifiers independent of a physical line on which the signal is received. However, Reveles et al. discloses a translation module to translate an incoming signal identifier to one of the logical identifiers independent of a physical line on which the signal is received (see Fig. 3, abstract, col. 3, lines 19-58). At the time of the invention, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art to combine the translation module teaching by Reveles et al. with Byers. The motivation for doing so would have been to provide to map and to locate the proper location for each incoming data from the congestion. Therefore, it would have been obvious to combine Reveles et al. and Byers to obtain the invention as specified in the claims 6-9.

6. Claims 2 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Soncodi (U.S. Patent 6,111,881) in view of Koenig et al. (U.S. Patent 6,351,452).

Regarding claims 2 and 4, Soncodi does not disclose rewriting the cross connect table and preventing change to the identifier after initialization. However, Koenig et al. discloses rewriting the cross connect table and preventing change to the identifier after initialization (see Fig. 8, col. 5, lines 13-24, and col. 14, lines 9-48). At the time of the invention, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art to combine rewriting the cross connect table and preventing change to the identifier after initialization teaching by Koenig et al. with Soncodi. The motivation for doing so would have been to provide to map and to locate the proper location for each incoming data and to designate each data to prevent from the congestion. Therefore, it would have been obvious to combine Koenig et al. and Soncodi to obtain the invention as specified in the claims 2 and 4.

Response to Arguments

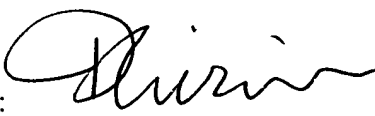

7. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-9 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
